Drawing on its rich and expansive history, Portugal's culinary expertise has been influenced by many cultures but is identified with its own distinct flavours. This is evident across Anantara Vilamoura's unique presentation of dining experiences. Using his deep expertise in Portugal's culinary traditions, Executive Chef Bruno Viegas has woven his passion throughout the resort's bars and restaurants.

Emo

A wine oriented restaurant concept comes to life at EMO, where Chef Bruno and the resident Wine Guru have masterfully created a menu that reflects the terroir heritage of the region. The signature restaurant presents one of the most diverse collections of Portuguese wine in the Algarve where the Wine Guru complements wine pairings for each course.

The extensive wine list highlights the celebrated wine regions of Portugal such as Douro and Alentejo, as well as emerging regions such as Bairrada and Dão to truly savour the tastes of the country. To further experience the traditional style of cooking, a special slow cooked menu is available with 24-hour advance notice serving dishes such as Roasted Sta Luiza Octopus, Sagres Sea Bass Baked in Salt Crust and Iberian Pork Cheeks Stewed in Red Wine, all served to share with friends or family.

The restaurant showcases choice catches such as Wild Caught Turbot cooked live on the barbecue and display of sea food rice varieties, serving Ria Formosa Oysters and Goose Barnacles as well as ceviche and carpaccio from the Algarve. Poolside guests can enjoy this experience without having to leave their lounge as waiters circulate the catch of the day within Algarvian wicker baskets and prepare them at the guests' convenience. The fresh ocean offer is paired with crisp white and rosé wines to round off guests' alfresco dining experience, as well as refreshing cocktails that have been designed specially to complement the seafood flavours.
